Here is the order, she vacated the scheduling order, stayed all discovery of the Plaintiff, and as for the Defendants, ordered them to serve only Initial Disclosures by June 17th, she did not authorize any other discovery demands to be served on the Defendants. I am not sure what happened to your email, I really never got it, otherwise I would have told you the same regarding my understanding of that order. I will email your discovery demands to my clients, and will do my best discuss the same with them tomorrow.

Yes, I didn't receive the email and I didn't know about these requests until today, you could have at least sent a follow up email or ask for receipt confirmation. But more importantly the last I remember was that she suspended the discovery schedule we agreed on and then ordered defendants to serve initial disclosures by June 17., there was nothing else. Where are you getting from that google can serve discovery demands. I am happy to get on the phone tomorrow to discuss the same.

Igor,
First, in your email below, you claim that you did not receive an email from us on July 19 attaching discovery requests. I am herewith re-attaching to you the email that we sent you on July 19. Is it your position that you did not receive this email on July 19? Is it your position that you did not know about these requests until today?
Second, you suggest that the Judge froze all discovery except for Defendants' initial disclosures. Can you please confirm that is your position?

To be clear, our position is that discovery of Defendants is not frozen, and that your responses are past due. We ask that you provide responses to our requests by Sunday, and that we set a time for a meet-and-confer on Monday to discuss the responses (or lack thereof). Please let us know what would work for you.

Luke

On July 19th I only got two emails, and none of them were from you. Also, why are you serving discovery demands, didn't the Judge freeze everything except Defendant's initial disclosures?

Igor,

Responses to our discovery requests were due one week ago. Do you intend to provide any discovery pursuant to those requests? We would like to meet-and-confer on this issue as we intend to move to compel that discovery.

Thanks,
Luke
